Councilmembers approve waste disposal well in city

Deep well injection

Among the facts of a Deep Well Injection System:

- The system injects fluids, solids, sludge and gases thousands of feet below the surface of the earth into rock formations.
- Hazardous wastes are located in 15 states.
- After a reasonable start-up period, disposal volumes will average at least 750,000 gallons per month or nine million gallons per year.

ANP Staff Writer

Is it safer for toxic waste to be dumped in a Romulus landfill between layers of earth which could leak into the water table, or should the waste be injected thousands of feet below the surface of the earth into a disposal well with only a minor chance of leaking into the water table?

Injecting toxic waste chemicals into a disposal well is much safer than a landfill, according to Al Rarick, geologist with the Geological Survey Division of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

"The well will be constructed and monitored by both federal and state laws," Rarick said. "The Environmental Protection Agency and the DNR will constantly monitor the daily operation of the well. If one thing goes wrong, we'll know about it in a matter of minutes and can render the situation at once."

The idea of having a waste disposal well in Romulus, however, is upsetting several residents. Recently, councilmembers approved a resolution in favor of Bestway Recycling Inc. and Environmental Disposal Systems Inc. to install a well in the city. Although the decision about the installation of the well rests in the hands of the EPA and DNR for approval, residents are still concerned about having it in the city.

In a recent unsigned letter by a longtime resident, the individual said: "Now we have a toxic waste well making its appearance here. Where's the (city officials') concern for the environment and the image of Romulus now? These are the same people that ask the question, 'Why don't Romulus kids stay in Romulus?' Where are they going to get jobs at a toxic waste dump, a sewage plant or a prison?"

Rarick insists the wells are safe and have been operating across the United States since 1950 without one mishap.

"Michigan is most easily adapted for a waste disposal well because it's an oil-producing state which means there are no leaks to the surface," Rarick said. "Before any chemical is injected, the liquid is filtered and analyzed to make sure it will be compatible with the other chemicals injected into the well."

When constructing the well itself, Rarick said no less than three steel pipes will be used along with three sheets of cement. Once the system is in tact, the EPA and DNR will install a monitoring system with a sensitive detection device.

If for some reason a toxic chemical is injected into the well and doesn't mix well with other well chemicals, Rarick said the result will be similar to the calcium build-up on water pipes in the home.

"If a chemical doesn't mix with what's already in the well, there won't be an eruption," Rarick said. "A compound will build up. We are injecting these chemicals hundreds of feet into thick sandstone so there will be no chance of leakage."

Romulus needs this well because of its high level of toxic chemicals, according to Rarick.

Businessman awarded with certificate

A Romulus businessman who was an avid supporter of the Romulus schools was recently presented with a certificate of appreciation from the Business Partnerships for Education.

David Rossman, former general manager of the Detroit Marriott, was actively involved with the Romulus School District through the partnership program for more than a year. He was recently transferred to the Marriott Airport in St. Louis, Mo., where he will be in charge of more than 600 rooms.

His last day in Wayne County was Jan. 11.

"I was the general manager for the Detroit Marriott since Feb. 1989," Rossman said. "I was coming from the Courtyard by Marriott in Romulus. Ed Clark was the first person who approached me with the idea to assist the schools."

Clark is the coordinator of the program.

About 60 businesses in Romulus are involved with the partnership program, which assists district schools to help further education for all students beyond the classroom.

Rossman joined hands with Cory Elementary School when then-principal Peter Silveri was at the helm. The official kick-off between Cory Elementary and Detroit Marriott was last fall.

"We started full swing with the program," Rossman said. "We went into the classrooms to teach table etiquette and had the students over to the hotel to try out what they learned. We also were involved with the student of the month program."

The program encourages students to improve in all academic areas. About 20 students a month are selected by school officials for their improvements. Those students receive meal certificates by Marriott.

Rossman said he really enjoyed working with the children and with Cory Principal Phyllis Adkins.

"I think, as with all businesses, you have to have an outlet," Rossman said. "I spend so much time in the hotel. Being with students, it's a healthy outlet."

Clark said Rossman will definitely be missed. He praised the dedication and efforts of Rossman to the students.

"He is one of those rare type of executives who realizes the importance of the community," Clark said. "He would really talk to the children. I remember one lunch with the elementary students where he sat with them and talked with them for more than an hour. This certificate is to give thanks to David Rossman for all his help."

As part of her etiquette lesson, Lori Kahl enjoys her meal at the Merriman Street Grill in Romulus. Kahl, a third-grader, recently participated in the etiquette program, sponsored by Marriott Hotel, with her classmates from

Students spoon up etiquette lessons

Michael Russell, Barth third grader, was specific on how to set the table properly.

"You have to put the fork on the left and the knife and spoon to the right," Russell said. "It's important to pick up from the right and serve from the left."

Russell and his classmates had the opportunity to test their table etiquette Jan. 15 at the Merriman Street Grill.

About 31 third-graders and their teacher Bonnie Mientkiewicz, along with a handful of parents, spent the early morning hours with Merriman General Manager Bobby Perea. Perea showed the students the ins and outs of hotel and restaurant management.

"This is a follow up to a program we started at the school," Perea said. "We taught the children how to use their silverware properly and what to say before and after the meal. This gives them a chance to practice."

Lunch was served around 11 a.m., giving the students hands-on experience with using their fork and knife properly. It was hard to remember, all the eating pointers Perea taught the students, according to Andrea Hoppe, 8.

"You have to remember what you ordered," Hoppe said. "You have to remember to not stare at people. I don't do that anyway. It's hard to work with the fork and knife."

Mientkiewicz believes her third-graders will continue to use their table-etiquette lessons throughout their lives. All the students were enthusiastic about trying to eat in the proper manner.

"They will go out with their parents for lunch or dinner and use the skills they have learned," Mientkiewicz said. "I think this is a good age to

Mayor asks for facts

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus Mayor Beverly McNally wants the facts - and only the facts - about Metropolitan Detroit Airport noise.

In a recent letter to Wayne County Commissioner Susan L. Hubbard, a commissioner on the special committee on airport noise, McNally addressed the unfairness of communities like Romulus, who are not getting any relief from the noise, only an increase.

"As the county agonizes over the inconvenience and 'unfair' imposition of noise upon the communities adjacent to and within the flight pattern of Metropolitan Airport, the mayor and the citizens of Romulus begin to wonder why that concern shouldn't be extended to include them," McNally said.

She said each time someone of apparent authority makes a statement about airport expansion plans, there is an immediate reaction within Romulus.

"Land prices fluctuate with such utterances," McNally said. "Homeowner anxiety sets in, development plans are canceled or curtailed and an overall uncertainty prevails."

McNally gave an example of a recent article in the Detroit Free Press indicating Deputy County Executive Mike Dugan, in an effort to placate some other communities, plans to increase noise within Romulus and Huron Township.

"Although it is hard to imagine how noise can be increased in a city where it all originates, perhaps he has found some new area to

Union leader sentenced

Richard Debs, recently sentenced to a 46-month prison term for his role in tampering with a union election, faces a bond hearing and calendar conference tomorrow in Detroit Recorder's Court on criminal sexual conduct charges.

Debs, 53, a former Van Buren

Township police commander and an ex-official of United Automobile Workers Local 1776, was convicted of violating the Hobbs Act when he attempted to prevent a union member from opposing him in an election. Debs was sentenced to the 46-month term by U.S. District Court Judge Patrick Duggan last week. He also will serve a concurrent term for firearm possession.

In December, Debs and a 19-year-old Westland man were arrested in Wayne on charges of breaking-and-entering with intent to commit criminal sexual conduct, first-degree criminal sexual conduct, carrying a concealed weapon and impersonating a police officer. The two victims, both minor boys, testified before 29th District Court Judge Carolyn Archbold during the preliminary hearing. One count of third-degree criminal sexual conduct was dropped when the prosecutor was unable to provide sufficient evidence. If convicted on the first-degree criminal sexual conduct charges, the two suspects could receive life imprisonment.

Debs was arraigned Dec. 28 in Detroit Recorder's Court, and entered a plea of not guilty. He was detained in the Wayne County jail on $50,000 cash bond.

Debs also faces a weapons charge stemming from a 1989 arrest in Canton Township.

Pardon the duplication in Belleville.

THINK YOU NEED TO LOSE WEIGHT?
YOU'RE NOT ALONE!

By Mitchell King, M.D.

If you've looked in the mirror recently and aren't happy with the extra pounds you see, you're not alone. Approximately one-third of all Americans are considered overweight, and 10 percent are considered obese — meaning they are 20 percent heavier than their ideal body weight.

Obesity is associated with a variety of medical problems such as hypertension, diabetes, certain forms of cancer, complications in pregnancy, and arthritis, to name only a few.

Determine ideal body weight
One way to determine your ideal body weight is to follow this calculation:

Men: Take 106 and add 6 pounds for each inch over five feet in height.
Women: Take 105 and add 5 pounds for each inch over five feet in height.

Eat less, exercise more
Current treatments of obesity center around the concept of "energy balance," meaning you must burn more energy (calories) than you consume. In other words, you need to eat less and exercise more if you want to lose weight.

To find out how many calories you need, multiply your ideal body weight in pounds by 14. This figure is the number of calories you should eat each day to maintain your ideal weight. If you eat 500 calories less than this number, you should be able to lose one pound a week.

Try to eat three balanced meals a day instead of one or two large meals. If you need to snack, skip the candy, cookies, and chips, and stick to fruits and vegetables. Also, drink a lot of water — ideally six or more eight-ounce glasses a day.

Exercise is essential. In addition to burning calories, it improves your stamina, motivation, and sense of well-being. A tip is to exercise at the time of day you are most likely to snack.

Don't wait — start today
Losing weight requires persistence, motivation, and permanent behavioral changes, but the long-term rewards are well worth the effort. Your personal physician can help you get started. Make an appointment today!

Councilmembers accept expiration terms

Romulus Councilmembers recently approved the expiration of terms of three Board of Zoning Appeals members. They include: Tom Williams, Donald Treder James Redford. Although the City of Romulus Code of Ordinance states the Board of Appeals should have five members, councilmembers did not take any action to fill the three vacancies. A decision is expected to be made at a later date.

Workers wanted

If you can volunteer two to four hours per week working with others who are interested in providing a positive atmosphere of growth and change for youth, call the Wayne Youth Connection at 722-2000. A free one-day training workshop will begin in late January. Also, the Wayne Youth Connection is looking for positive role models for youth. If you are interested, call 722-2000.

Library to begin new sessions

Story Time at the Romulus Public Library will begin a new session at 7 p.m. Feb. 5 and at 10:30 a.m. Feb. 7. The sessions will continue for eight weeks. Any child aged 3 and older is welcome to join. Many favorite folk and fairytales will be featured as well as stories of the winter season and newly published children's tales. Puppets, rhymes and fingerplays with active participation by the children will make Story Time appealing for children of all ages. Register your child in person or by telephone at 942-7589.

Valentine contest to be staged

The Romulus Public Library will conduct its annual Design a Valentine contest from Jan. 16 to Feb. 13. Children are asked to design a Valentine and bring it to the library. All Valentines will be used to decorate the library. Each participant may enter a drawing for the special prize. The lucky winner will be notified by Feb. 13. For more information about the contest, call the Romulus Public Library at 942-7589.

start teaching table etiquette." Parents who assisted the students included: Joyce Evans, Cathie Allen, Wendy Kufel, Diana Slater, Lynne Flournoy, Pam Swauger and Horace Person. Perea is one of 60 business representatives in Romulus assisting the school district throughout the year with providing education outside the classroom. Each business helps students learn on-the-job skills to use in the future, according to Ed Clark, coordinator for Business Partnerships for Education. "This is just another display of community spirit," Clark said. "The Merriman Executive Inn continues to show support for academic programs. It may be one of the few opportunities for the students to visit a place like this where they can look at various role models." A concern growing in the educational circles centers on children not being prepared enough for a particular job. Clark believes programs such as the partnership with the schools can help to broaden students' horizons. "At some point in time, students may want to set up an internship with one of the businesses," Clark said. "This opens the door for that kind of opportunity. A lot of kids are not aware of the kinds of opportunities that are available out there for them." Romulus businesses interested in becoming a part of the partnership program can call Clark at 941-0610.

Band director is honored

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus councilmembers praised Junior High School Band Director Richard Kruse Jan. 14 for being selected recently as the 11th Annual Romulus Person of the Year. "I've known Richard Kruse for many years," Mayor Pro Tem Randolph Gear said. "He's an excellent teacher and is constantly working with the kids." "I'll always remember the July 4th parade," Mayor Beverly McNally said. "When it was extremely hot and Richard Kruse was with the kids leading them down Goddard Road." On Dec. 18, Kruse was selected by the Romulus Chamber of Commerce for the award. A special award and dinner dance is scheduled at 6:30 p.m. March 1 at the new Romulus Marriott to honor Kruse. Cost is $30 per person. Kruse has served Romulus schools for about 16 years. He has continuously produced award-winning bands. His bands have received national recognition six times: 1980, 1983, 1986, 1987, 1988 and 1989. On his own time, Kruse goes to various Romulus subdivisions during the summer to talk with children he feels are interested in band and encourages them to get started in the music program. He helps them find the instruments of their choice. Kruse's bands won state-level competitions in all years except 1979. The bands have played at the Epcot Center in Florida, at the Capital in Washington, D.C., and in New York. He was recently named in the 1990 Who's Who of America's Teachers. One of his former students, Tonya Tompkins, nominated Kruse. Another former student, Glenn Hayes, has become the band director for the University of Whitewater in Wisconsin. Kruse gives up a lot of his nights and weekends to fill requests for his band to play at festivals, clubs and organizational events. He paid for a sign to be placed on Interstate-94 so band students could be recognized for their achievements. For the past six years, Kruse has been in charge of the State Elementary Workshop. The Saturday workshops have included representatives from the instrument manufacturing, wholesale and retail publishing and instructional areas, and have had an average attendance of more than 50 teachers. From 1962-1966, Kruse was the first chair with the University of Michigan band. He was a featured soloist with the band on its 25,000-mile Russian tour in 1961.

Resident remembered by friends, family

A longtime Romulus resident recently died, leaving behind a message for youngsters to stay in school and get an education. Harry William Nelson, 59, died Jan. 7 at Providence Hospital. His wife of 31 years, Gwendolyn, said her husband was very ill. "He had been very ill for about a year," Mrs. Nelson said. "He cared very much about the welfare of people and especially wanted the young people to be more prepared for life by continuing their studies." Nelson was born June 5, 1931 in Texarkana, Ark. He graduated from Booker T. Washington High School in 1949 and attended Huston-Tillotson College. In 1951, Nelson enlisted in the United States Air Force. His 20-year career included assignments in Turkey, Canada, Portugal, Maine, Louisiana and Michigan.

In 1970, he received a bachelor of general studies in industrial relations from the University of Nebraska. In 1971, he retired from the Air Force and began working for Ford Motor Co. Nelson retired from Ford in 1990. "He was involved in many organizations," Mrs. Nelson said. "He was a conscientious Bible student." Nelson was involved with the following organizations: the Romulus Housing Commission, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (past president of the Romulus branch), Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity Inc., Tuskegee Airmen Inc. and the Prince Hall Masons. Funeral services were Jan. 12 for Nelson at the Church of Living God in Texarkana, Ark. Nelson is survived by his wife; his children, Reuben Nelson

City golf course project strokes behind completion

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus golfers may have a long wait before officials from the Michigan Department of Natural Resources decide to approve plans on a city golf course project. The Romulus Golf Course Committee is developing a strategy to complete the project, which includes a joint venture with area developers, according to Dennis Oakes, director of community development. "We sent information on the project to the DNR," Oakes said. "We are waiting to hear the preliminary reaction from the DNR if the plan is feasible. It's going to be a long time before we hear from the DNR." The role of the developer, according to Oakes, would be to assume all of the financial responsibilities for design and construction of the course, and lease and operate the facility. "The city's role would be to use the land we've acquired as leverage in the deal," Oakes said. Last November, city officials were reviewing the environmental conditions of a 76-acre parcel of land west of the CSX tracks. The golf committee has developed a "request for letters of interest," which were sent to prospective developers for a response. "The committee and council will interview for prospective developers in order to select a partner for the project," Oakes said. The letter essentially gives the developer a history of the intentions of the city for the golf course. The letter requests the following from the interested parties:

- A letter of interest including the company name and address submitting the proposal.
- A description of the firm including its business structure.
- Experience related to the financing development and operation of a regular-sized golf course.
- A description of the project team which displays the talent and expertise required to complete the work.
- At least four government agencies, public or private golf clubs or firms with whom the company has conducted business with in the last five years.

After reviewing the qualifications of each firm, the golf committee will select proposals from at least three firms.

Mayor is looking for interested residents

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus Mayor Beverly McNally is looking for a handful of residents who would like to serve on various city commissions and boards. "We have a number of boards and commissions that have vacancies," McNally said. "Anyone interested is welcomed to call my office and tell us which area they are interested in." Romulus boards and commissions include: zoning, planning, police, fire and safety board, board of appeals, historical commission, charter review committee, cable commission, recycling committee and the economic development commission. "There are so many ways residents can help serve the community," McNally said. Recently, councilmembers approved the establishment of a new board: construction board of appeals. The CBA serves somewhat the same functions as the appeals board, according to Assistant Building Director Willie Watson. This is the first time the city has formed such a board. In the past, discrepancy cases were sent to the construction board of appeals in Lansing, which only lengthened the process to resolve the dispute, according to Watson. The board of construction members include various professions, an electrician, a plumber and a builder. Anyone interested in serving the community is encouraged to phone McNally at 942-7571.

Well

"For instance, all the stuff that comes off the cars at the car wash would be injected into the well," Rarick said. "The fact is, you do have these wastes. If you don't put them (in the injection well), you have to put them on the surface of the earth." About 20 years from now, the chemicals injected into the well could be pumped out for some other kind of use, according to Rarick. "We're not really disposing but storing the chemicals," Rarick said. "If we don't need the chemicals in 20 years, we'll throw fresh water into the well, pull out the casing and put a big cement plug on the top and fill the whole mess with cement." "We'll even put a monument on top of the covered well to let people know what's down there so there will no longer be a problem." Rarick said slight pressure is being created with the injection of chemicals into the earth, however, that pressure will dissipate in time. Today, Michigan houses 22 waste injection wells. The closest well to Romulus is located in Kalamazoo. There are about 300,000 injection underground wells operating nationwide.

adversely impact, and, perhaps, plans to remove another few hundred acres from our tax base," McNally said. "We have valiantly tried to comply with requirements for updated and current master plans and zoning ordinances only to find, after spending thousands of dollars with planning consultants, that, because of complaints of other communities, our future plans may be in jeopardy." McNally said she and other community representatives participated and paid consultants to participate in a noise abatement effort. After hours of deliberation and uncoupled dollars of consultant fees, McNally said the entire effort was rendered useless. The study was undertaken by Wayne County within the last two years and provided much of the noise-related information presented to the communities at the August 1989 public hearing on the proposed Metro Airport expansion, according to McNally. The noise study proposed several specific measures that would directly impact on thousands of Romulus residents. Extensive structural soundproofing, residential acquisitions and purchase assurance programs were proposed at that time, McNally said. "This lengthy and costly effort appears to have disappeared from consideration," McNally said. "Almost daily my staff and I receive inquiries from residents who believe that their homes are to be acquired or that they are to receive some sort of noise abatement assistance from Wayne County, as they were assured during the public hearing. "In fact, it appears that Wayne County is today less able to offer these residents the assistance that they deserve and rightfully expect than it was some eighteen months ago." The Part 150 study has not been approved by the FAA and thus the county is not even able to stand in line with other airports across the country to request future FAA funding for the noise programs. "I believe that our residents have had their expectations raised unfairly and are entitled to honest answers about their future prospects for noise abatement," McNally said. "The people of Romulus are cognizant of the proximity of the airport to their homes; they expect and tolerate some noise. However, they do expect that, wherever possible, the noise be minimized and regulated. And, when they have made efforts to locate out of the noise contour, they do not expect to have the contour changed." The surrounding communities are anticipating some kind of economic benefit as a result of the airport expansion, according to McNally. But if the noise is unfair to some, then it is to all and measures should be implemented to minimize all noise, she said. "As to the types of mitigation that can be implemented, currently, improved engine design, hush houses and berms immediately come to mind," McNally said. "There may be ways in which take-off and landing patterns can follow other nuisance corridors such as freeways and railroads. However, each of these measures brings with it accompanying aggravations." McNally said Romulus is concerned about the absence of input to assist communities and affected residents. "We have learned that the task force program is now slated for approval," McNally said. "Where was the opportunity for public comment on that program and how does it differ from that which was proposed in the Part 150 study and the Metro expansion Environmental Impact Statement? "It is my belief that any noise abatement program, if it is intended to be effective, must be made with the full understanding and input of the affected communities and residents, along with the technical staff of the airport and FAA. Further, It must be based on realistic expectations of federal funding."

Mayor discusses economy with Soviets

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Staff Writer

The Soviet Union needs help from Americans to make the transition from communism to democracy, according to one local visitor.

Wayne Mayor Patrick Norton recently returned from the American Leadership Conference in Washington, D.C., where he shared his views on how the democratic system operates. Norton was one of two mayors in Michigan who were selected to meet with more than 100 representatives from Eastern Europe and the Soviet Union Dec. 14.

"The conference was attended by some 400 people," Norton said. "The crook of the conference was on the morality of the government and generating democracy around the world."

Various discussions focused on how the United States should assist the countries in their transition to democracy.

"I dealt mostly with three Soviets," Norton said. "One Soviet, Yuria Lebedev, was very interested in small towns. He is the chair of innovations and council of the prime minister for the Russian Federation."

Lebedev stressed to Norton the Soviets did not want financial aid. Even though the Soviets are in dire need for technological improvements, they just don't have the technology to make the improvements, Lebedev told Norton.

"He said Americans have to reach out to help them," Norton said. "They want people from big companies like Ford Motor Co. to show them how to make improvements."

In the Soviet Union, things like cars and other means of transportation don't work well. Lebedev told Norton the hospitals don't even have running water.

The Soviets, however, are strong in education and have abundant natural resources, Norton said.

"They want to go to a free market, but if the U.S. doesn't help them, Lebedev said the people won't want it," Norton said. "They just don't believe the system will work."

One McDonald's restaurant is situated in the Soviet Union, providing Soviets with an example of how democracy operates, according to Norton.

Besides learning how desperate Soviets are, Norton said he was surprised to see how similar in stature the Soviets were to Americans. Because of their economic conditions, however, their clothing and hair styles are old fashioned.

"Their clothing appeared to be from decades ago, a look out of the 1930s," Norton said. "There's not going to be a quick fix for anyone with any of these problems over there. Just like there will be no quick fix for Wayne. The Soviet Union just isn't as fortunate as East Germany because they don't have a country to help them with the transition and accept them right away."

The ALC conference was staged from Dec. 14 through Dec. 16. The ALC is unique because it provides a forum to consider the challenges, opportunities and options which face the nation in the decade of the 1990s, according to Phillip V. Sanchez, former U.S. Ambassador and chairman of ALC.

On Dec. 14, Norton and guests had dinner with Sanchez and Sen. Richard Lugar, R-Ind. On Dec. 15, a number of presentations were made which included "America and the World," "The Decline of Marxist Ideology" and "Confusion in the Western Value System."

On Dec. 16, Arnaud De Borchgrave, editor-in-chief of The Washington Times, presented the keynote speech.

The ALC is co-sponsored by the American Constitution Committee and CAUSA International.

Beyer Hospital sale remains uncertain

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

The on-again, off-again sale of Beyer Hospital appears to be on hold now.

Pressure from local residents and staff physicians have temporarily halted the move to sell the 75-bed hospital to the Catherine McAuley Health Center in Ann Arbor. Officials from Belleville, Ypsilanti and Lincoln Park had threatened to take legal action to stop the sale of the Ypsilanti hospital.

Beyer Hospital operated at a deficit during the past two years, and reported a loss of $2 million in 1990. Following a pledge by doctors to bring more patients into the hospital, a positive cash flow has been reported for the past two months, according to Milton Mack, board chairman of the company that operates Beyer Hospital.

United Care Inc., the Wayne-based non-profit organization that owns Beyer, is expected to review the performance of the hospital next year and make a decision on the future of Beyer at that time.

A group of local physicians had made a bid to buy the hospital after the announcement of the proposed sale to CAHC.

Beyer Hospital formerly was part of the publicly owned People's Community Hospital Authority.

Van Buren Township Supervisor David Jakokes said his main concern for the future of the hospital is for the hospital to be operated under its original guidelines.

"I want to be sure that United Care is complying with the enabling legislation under which it took over the PCHA facilities," Jakokes said. "Regardless of who operates Beyer Hospital, I want to see the level of care for indigents and for the community maintained."

Jakokes said he could not comment on the proposed purchase of Beyer Hospital by the physicians' group because he has not seen their proposal.

Southern communities react to flight changes

News that Metro Airport air traffic will be rerouted to reduce noise for some communities was not good for those who reside south of the facility.

Additional air traffic is slated to be rerouted over the less populated areas of Sumpster, Van Buren and Huron townships, beginning in April. It is estimated 90 percent of departing traffic from Metro Airport would head southeast and southwest over the three townships if the new plan is adopted.

Huron Township Supervisor Christine Gamber said the new flight patterns will increase night-time air traffic over her community as well as air traffic in the daytime hours. The plan calls for a 12 p.m.-to-6 a.m. curfew on flights that arrive and depart from the north and west. Under the new plan, those flights would use the southern runways.

Airport expansion to promote more jobs, growth

By PATRICIA BROWN
ANP Staff Writer

Wayne County officials are promising the expansion of Detroit Metropolitan Airport will bring more jobs, dollars and less headaches to surrounding communities.

The expansion will bring about 20,000 high paying jobs to the area. This does not include the people who will be hired during the construction phase. These are jobs that will exist after the airport expansion is completed, said Bryan Amann, noise czar for Wayne County.

"The beauty of it is that the local taxpayers won't be the ones paying for it. Instead, the revenue will come out of the airlines, who will pass the cost onto the passengers, who are the people using the airport," Amann said.

When the expansion is completed, the cost is estimated to be about $1 billion, Amann said.

"A lot of the dollars are going into concrete," he said.

Along with the expansion will come new roads, sewers, runway and a tower. The airport will be more accessible to drivers. Instead of having to approach the airport solely from Merriman Road on the north side, a new road will be built to allow access to the airport from the south, Amann said.

Recently residents who live in communities that fall beneath the pathways of airplanes protested the amount of noise the jets were causing. The Federal Aviation Administration has redirected the traffic so the noise level would be reduced.

By 1997, the number of passengers who use the airport on a daily basis will nearly double, but the amount of traffic will only increase by about 1 percent each year.

"This will be a real turning point for the airline industry, where we hope to double the number of passengers in the next 15 years, without doubling the number of flights," he said.

For example, Northwest Airlines has two planes that leave Detroit within an hour of each other for Washington, D.C., every morning. Each airplane holds about 110 people. Instead of using two airplanes to transport 220 people, the airline will use one airplane, which can hold up to 300 people and leave once a day, according to Amman.

As the airport grows, so will the need for more services in and around the airport. This will include: more hotels, car rental agencies, restaurants and other businesses.

Amann estimates the expansion will be completed sometime in 1997, and by then most of the aircrafts using the airport will be newer and larger. The newer airplanes aren't as loud as the older airplanes, he said.

Huron high school players to present comedy on stage

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

If you're looking for a method to chase away the mid-winter blues, an amusing play may be just the ticket.

The Moss Hart-George Kaufman comedy, George Washington Slept Here, is slated to be performed on the Huron High School stage Jan. 19, 20, 26 and 27. Curtain time is 8 p.m. on Saturdays and 3 p.m. on Sundays.

The play relates the tale of a city-bred family that encounters one calamity after another in a dilapidated Colonial farmhouse. The house, which is claimed to have been a stop-over site for George Washington, has a multitude of old age problems. A seemingly endless array of leaks and cracks and holes plague the new owners of the historic home, and provide moments of comedy as they muddle through one dilemma after another in their attempts to restore the historic home.

The cast features Jim Lusko as the handyman, Mr. Kimber, who is the constant bearer of bad tidings to the Fuller family. Mike Lomas plays the role of the ever-optimistic and often excitable Newton Fuller, and Ann Dulecki portrays his wife, Annabelle, whose personality is the opposite of Newton's.

Charissa Phillips plays Midge, the Fuller's flirtatious daughter; Larry Stewart is cast as her beau, Steve, and Kristin Ball portrays the over-worked maid. Alex Nichols is the Fuller's nephew, Raymond, and Mark Cripps appears as Uncle Stanley, who is thought to be the richest member of the family. Others in the cast are Candy Jones, Dana Giese, Paul Lazere, Mike Duffy, Mary Duffy, Andrea Dawson and Alan Karoub.

Director David Kuykendall, an HHS performing arts instructor, is assisted by Mike Dezi and Therle Dregansky.

The school is located at 32044 Huron River Drive, New Boston, across from Michigan Memorial Park. Ticket information is available by calling 782-5380.

Opinion

All is fair in air traffic

When the task force assigned to solve noise problems caused by flights at Metro Airport released its findings last week, some residents breathed a sigh of relief and others felt a swift kick in the rear.

Residents to the north of the airport will experience a considerable decrease in aircraft noise some time in April. Those to the south, however, will have a little extra noise.

Although residents to the south have reason to complain, the overall plan as presented by the task force is fair. It presented recommendations which will disperse the noise more equitably throughout communities surrounding the airport.

Most importantly, the plan as discussed continues to make safety the highest priority.

The task force should be congratulated for their hard work and consideration, and representatives of the Federal Aviation Administration should be commended for keeping an open mind to suggested changes to their plan.

We will all be anxious to hear the results of the runway and flight-path changes this spring and summer for that will be the true test of the plan.

Accusation is 'old' and absurd

Accusations were flown the way of the Inkster Ledger Star last week. We've heard it before.

One would think the response would be clear by now.

An Inkster councilman accused the Associated Newspapers of being a mouthpiece of the city administration because we are the official newspaper of that city, and therefore accept advertising from the city.

The "official" newspaper label of which we are so proud is a business arrangement made between this newspaper company and the cities in which we operate. We are the official newspaper of all six cities in which we have newspapers.

We like to think receiving the contract each year from these communities is a sign of trust and respect. But in purest terms it is based on a rate-per-inch offered to the city for legal advertising, placement of those advertisements and deadlines for placing these advertisements (all depending on the individual requirements of the city involved).

The city pays us strictly for the space they use for their legal advertisements, they do not pay us for printing whatever they want on the editorial pages of any of our newspapers.

If that were the case, I hazard to guess you would not read stories about crime in Inkster or about complaints raised by residents in the audience at city council meetings. You probably would not read about accusations made against the mayor, the superintendent, the schools or the city.

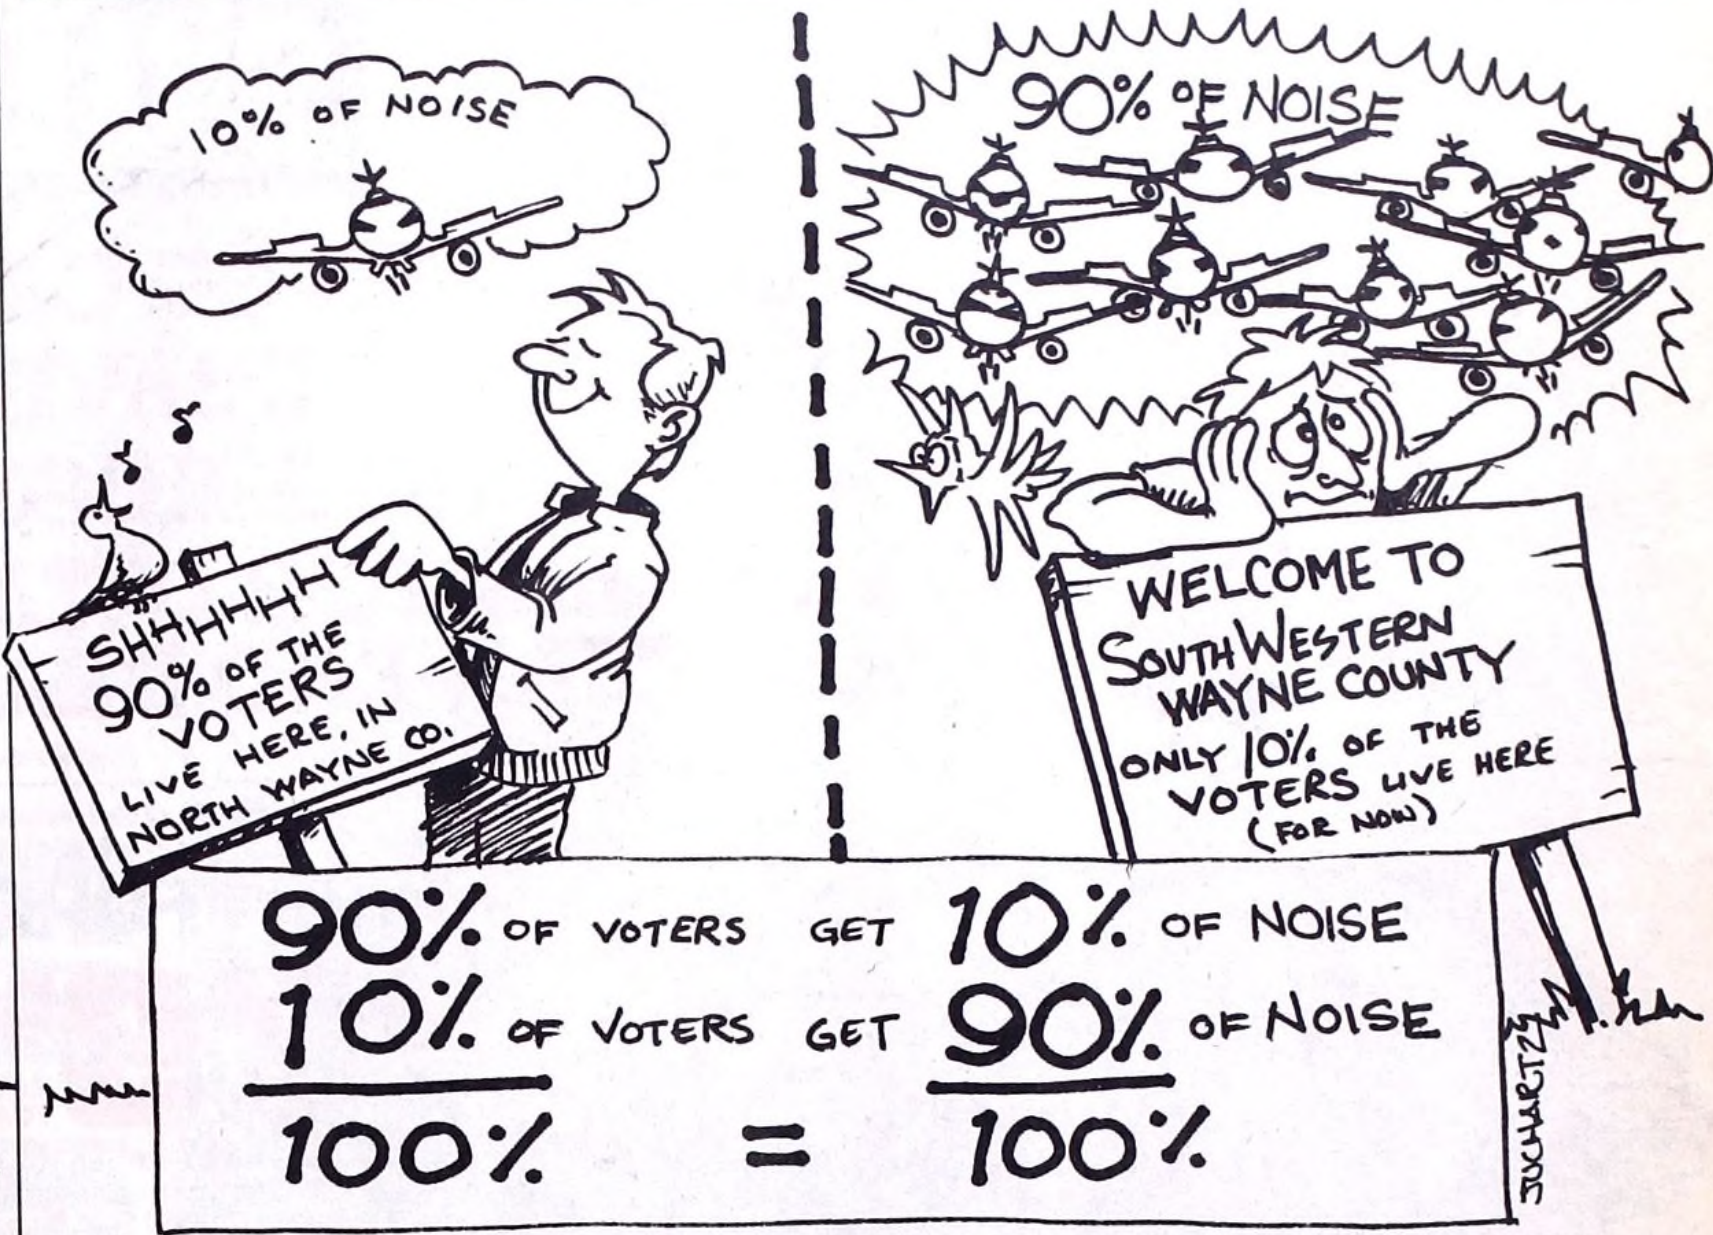

If we were mouthpieces of the cities which we report, we would not be a newspaper at all.

The city buys from us a product - a bit of space in a newspaper, advertising space.

In return we publish their advertisement in a reputable publication that is well-read and well-respected in the community.

That is the only "deal" that has been made with the city of Inkster, the city of Belleville, the city of Wayne, the city of Westland or the townships of Canton, Van Buren and Sumpter.

It is the only "deal" this company will ever make. We will sell advertising to cities, but we will never sell our souls or our editorial coverage.

"THE OVERALL EFFECT OF THE (AIRPORT) PLAN IS FAIR..."

Reader concerned about Gulf comments

Dear Congressmen Ford,
Today I read an article written in the Associated Newspapers Suburban Living section dated Jan. 6, 1991. After reading the article and some of the quotes that you made in the interview, I feel it is necessary to express my feelings and concerns for your comments. Let me first state that I have a son serving in the Gulf, he is a sergeant with the 82nd Airborne, he is married, and has two children who are now living in Livonia. Secondly, although I did not serve in Viet Nam, other brothers were in the service at that time, one of whom was stationed in Da Nang during the height of the conflict; he won a Purple Heart during a shelling at that base.

The reason for this letter, and the foundation of the previous paragraph is to let you know, from a father's and brother's point of view, that your opinion is not shared by a good many people. These are not people who feel that mighty America should be the world's watchdog or the world's police officer. They are people that feel that we are a nation that can be called upon when oppression such as the invasion of Kuwait happens, even if it is on the other side of the world.

Many years ago I had a criminal law class at Schoolcraft College. One particular example of a legal question has repeatedly come to mind and it fits well here also. A journalist is at a beach, and he watches a little boy walk to the end of a pier, where the water is six feet deep. The journalist watches the boy fall off of the pier after being pushed by a bully. The journalist goes to where the boy fell in. He makes no attempt to rescue the boy, but instead takes out a note pad and writes an article on how the little boy drowns. The issue in the law class was to determine if the journalist committed a crime, and we found that he was not. But isn't it abhorrent to us that the journalist did nothing to help the boy? Kuwait is as innocent as the little boy. Saddam Hussein is the bully that pushed him off the pier. The journalist could be America. We should not simply sit by and watch as Iraq pushes Kuwait off the pier, read about it and say that's too bad. Although America is a peace-loving nation, being peace loving does not mean that we should stand idly watching as other decimate their defenseless-neighbors. Sure, there are other conflicts going on in the world. The majority of which we should have no involvement. Third World nations struggling with internal strife are no comparison with the actions taken by Iraq.

One quote in the paper is that "nothing is worth the life of one soldier," and you made comments that reasons for fighting are insignificant. Tell the Kuwaitis that. I too would rather pay $2 or $3 for a gallon of gasoline than to have a loved one die. But I also believe that justice, even on a global level is something that Americans do stand for and still should show our support. Never has there been such worldwide support for a single cause as has been shown in this matter. I am disappointed in the lack of military support from others, but others do not have the history, the understanding that you cannot simply take others homes and industry, lives and identity. I pray to God that no one will suffer even a scratch through this conflict, but I understand and support the president in his handling of this conflict, even at the expense of war. I wonder Mr. Ford, where do you draw your line at using warfare to protect people from injustice. Would it take a direct attack against American soil? Would the same situation in the western hemisphere do it for you?

I believe that you are wrong in your position. I feel that you should support the President's position in this matter. Your comparing Viet Nam and this conflict is a mistake, the situations are totally different. No one is selling anyone a bill of goods through this. We are simply standing up for what is right. The fact that Kuwait is energy rich has impact, but it is not the proximate cause of our involvement.

Thank you for listening to my thoughts. I sincerely hope that you will reverse your position, or at the very least soften your stance. People in my situation would like to have support of the governmental representatives, and not read that their thoughts are that so unilaterally unresponsive.

The walls have more than ears

Just Desserts

Susan Willett

The first clue was the terrible smell. We ignored it.

The second hint was the gurgling and bubbling. We ignored that, too.

Then we saw the horrible little black flying bugs swarming out of the drain into the shower stall. It was about at this time we began to have visions of The Amityville Horror but discounted these thoughts as mere hysteria.

Then all the drains and toilets in our brand new, beautiful home began to gurgle, bubble viciously and subsequently overflow on our equally new tile and carpeting (it's white, thank you...or was).

We should have known something was seriously amiss when we heard the sounds emanating from the plumbing. No inanimate object has ever emitted such fear-inspiring, nerve-racking noises.

As we used every towel yet unpacked to swab up the swirling water, mixed with toxic substances of unknown origin, in the shower stall, we began to wonder if perhaps this move into our very first new home had been less than precipitous. As we gazed romantically into each other's eyes from across the dripping toilet bowl we realized that this was not exactly the way we had anticipated spending our time in our new home.

Actually, we had planned a lovely evening. We were going to the Canton Township Chamber of Commerce Dinner and Auction. Both my husband and I had been looking forward to this evening out since our social life has revolved around shelf-paper installation and unpacking boxes for three weeks now. We thought this would be a real treat.

Obviously, the house knew we had planned to leave it all alone for an evening and rebelled at the thought of our absence.

We took the only appropriate action in such a situation. We yelled at each other. When we got finished with that required-by-marriage first step in any domestic crisis, we phoned the builder representative. Helpful in every crisis, he told us that this was really a shame and too bad it had to happen to such nice people. Have a nice day.

OK. We can take a hint. We got out the trusty Yellow Pages and began making phone calls to all those plumbers who advertise "24-Hour Emergency Service". That's a lie. Perhaps these people do have "24-Hour Emergency Service" but it wasn't during the time of our emergency. They had some other 24 hours in mind.

After two hours of phone calls to various and asundried plumbers, we made contact with the Roto-Rooter man. He assured us he would appear at the scene, but this didn't sound like his kind of problem. He appeared, just as he promised, and lo and behold, he figured out a way to solve our dilemma. Of course, his methods included running something called a "snake" down the shower drain—unused I might add until this very day.

Having had the stove which was infested with white worm-like insects hauled out that very afternoon and replaced, I was personally not eager to have another animal in my home. The black flying bugs were enough, thank you. The Roto-Rooter man prevailed, as did my spouse, however, and snake, he did.

What we didn't realize was that this drainpipe ran between the walls in the dining room. Yep, you guessed it. The pic-

No time for anything

The holiday season is over and schedules have slowed down a bit—wrong.

There is plenty of time now to fix extravagant meals for our families and friends—wrong.

In this hectic, fast-paced world there is no time to do much of anything, especially cooking. Yet, we all want to provide nutritious hot meals for our families.

Perhaps the best-known cookbook on the market that responds to this dilemma is the "No Time To Cook" cookbook, published by McCall's.

The easy-to-prepare meals are delicious and nutritious, and perfect for the cold days ahead.

The cookbook has been around for awhile, and has become a staple in most kitchens. The following are some favorite recipes plucked from the pages of this book.

Chicken in wine with vegetables

2 (2-pound) chickens, cut into quarters
1/4 pound bacon, coarsely chopped
20 small onions, peeled
1/4 cup Cognac or brandy
4 shallots, chopped
2 teaspoons dried thyme leaves
2 bay leaves, crumbled
2 or 3 parsley sprigs
2 garlic cloves, pressed
1/2 pound fresh mushrooms, chopped
4 carrots, pared and cut in 1-inch slices
2 3/4 cups dry white wine
1 tablespoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon sugar
1/4 teaspoon ground nutmeg
3 chicken bouillon cubes, crumbled
1/2 green pepper, seeds and ribs removed
1 medium tomato, cut into eighths
1/3 cup all-purpose flour
2 tablespoons chopped parsley

Day Before: Wash chicken quarters under cold running water and pat dry with paper towels. In a 6-quart Dutch oven or flameproof casserole, heat bacon, add onions and saute over medium heat until golden. Lift out onions and bacon with slotted spoon. Add chicken quarters; saute, turning until chicken is golden brown all over. In a metal ladle, heat Cognac slightly and pour over chicken, ignite. Add shallots, thyme, bay leaves, parsley sprigs, garlic, mushrooms, carrot, bacon, onion and 2 cups wine. Add salt, pepper, sugar, nutmeg and bouillon cubes, stir to mix well. Bring to boiling, reduce heat and simmer covered for 50 minutes. Place a sheet of waxed paper over the top of the Dutch oven and place lid over the waxed paper. Combine 3/4 cup wine with flour to make a smooth mixture, stir into liquid in Dutch oven. Bring to boiling, stirring. Sauce will be slightly thickened. Remove from heat and let cool; then refrigerate, covered.

Next Day: Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Add green pepper and tomato. Reheat, covered, 50 to 60 minutes. Sprinkle with parsley. Serves 8.

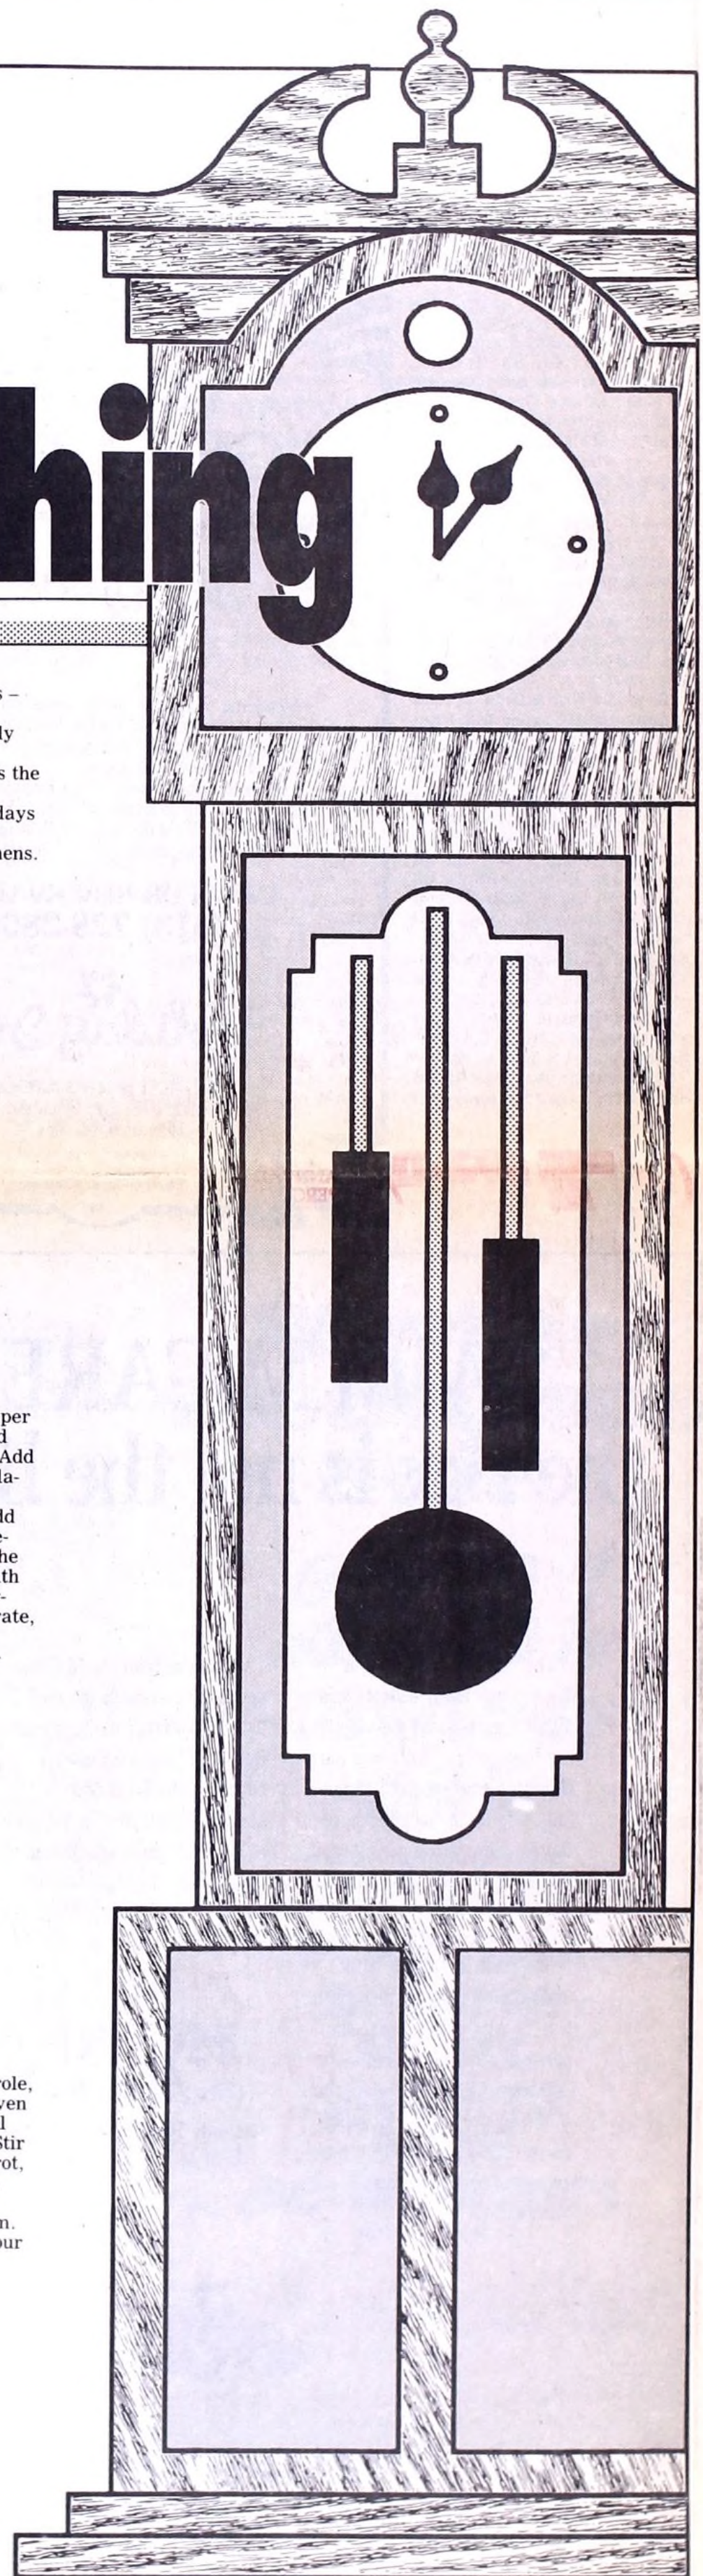

Veal paprikash and noodle casserole

1/3 cup all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/3 cup salad oil
3 pounds stewing veal cut in 1 1/2-inch cubes
2 1/2 to 3 tablespoons paprika
1 pound yellow onions, peeled and sliced
12 small white onions
2 cans (10 1/2 ounce size) condensed beef broth, undiluted
1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
6 carrots, pared and halved crosswise
1 package (8-ounces) wide noodles
1 pint sour cream
Fresh dill sprigs or chopped parsley

On waxed paper, combine flour, 1 teaspoon salt and the pepper. Use to coat veal. Reserve remaining flour mixture. In some of hot oil in Dutch oven or 4-quart casserole, brown veal, a third at a time, adding oil as needed. Remove as browned. Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Stir paprika into drippings in Dutch oven. Add sliced onion and small white onions, and saute, stirring about 10 minutes. Remove Dutch oven from heat. Stir in reserved flour mixture until well blended. Stir in beef broth, Worcestershire, carrot, browned veal and 1 teaspoon salt. Bake, covered for 1 hour, 50 minutes. Meanwhile, cook noodles as package label directs. Add drained, cooked noodles to Dutch oven, bake 10 minutes longer. Stir a little hot liquid from Dutch oven into 1 cup sour cream. Gradually stir into veal mixture until well blended. Garnish with remaining 1 cup sour cream and fresh dill sprigs.

Tuscany bean soup

1 pound dried white Great Northern beans water
1 tablespoon salt
1 can (10 3/4 ounces) condensed chicken broth, undiluted
1/2 teaspoon dried marjoram leaves
1 bay leaf
1/8 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons salad oil
1 1/2 cups sliced onion
1 garlic clove, pressed

Harlow rolls to victory over Lamp

By SEAN KELLY
ANP Staff Writer

With only six games left, the divisional races remain close. As yet, no team has clinched its division title. Here are the results of games from last week:

Harlow Tire rolled over Top of The Lamp by a 10-4 margin. Mike Villemure had the hat trick for Harlow. Ed Harmon scored two goals, with Jim Creekmore, Andy Pietrzyk, Jim McMaster, Dennis LaPensee and Rick Rattai all scoring one goal each. Creekmore, Harmon, Pietrzyk, LaPensee, Rattai and Doug Hackman all had assists. Harlow Tire continues to lead its division with a 13-4-1 record. Top of The Lamp drops to 6-12.

Sportswear Design demolished D.J.'s Lounge in a 12-3 blowout. Larry Pennington led the way for Sportswear, scoring two goals and assisting on seven others. Gary Shiemke had the hat trick, with Ron Clements and Craig Albosta scoring two goals each. Paul Roe, John Porter and Ron Jacobs also scored. Albosta had three assists. Mike Cleaver, Mark Tominac, Lou Balazsi, Shiemke, Roe and Clements also had assists. Sportswear has a 12-5-1 record. Dave Fiero tallied twice for D.J.'s. Tom James added a solo score. Walt Fischhoff, Dan Shaw and Fiero had assists.

Rogala's Bar & Grill handed Independent Carpet a 7-4 defeat. Jerry Robertson scored four goals for Rogala's. Norm Beasley, Dave Frankling and Arnie Cox had one goal each. Frankling, Robertson, Cox, Ken Knick, Dave Fishwick, Dennis Broge and Phil Neal all had assists. Rogala's moves its record to 9-7-2. Bob Bowen scored twice for Independent. Larry Kaifesh and John Kunz also scored. Roger Wodgenske, Mike McGraw, Gary Barbaza and Dave Cherry had assists.

Eisley Electric couldn't hold a two-goal lead, and P.C. Outlet finally forged a 3-3 tie. Eisley led the entire game, until Ed Schechter scored his second goal to tie the score for P.C. with 25 seconds left in the game. Jeff Lemon added one goal for P.C. Ken Langlois, Dan Duszkiwicz and Schechter had assists. Ray Matthews scored twice for Eisley. Steven Wildman also scored. Jay Midgough and Carl Pawlowski earned assists. Eisley has an 11-5-2 record. P.C. stands at 6-7-5.

Bob Jones scored four goals to lead Howell Tool & Gage to a 6-1 win over Millar-Weinberg. Mark Santoni and Al Farina also scored. John Colligan, Jake Davidson, Ron Hays, Jim Miller, Ken Klinck and Tim Souter all had assists. Howell has a 11-6-1 record. Chuck Quint scored the lone goal for Millar, assisted by Mike Beals and Dave Zajac. Millar drops to 9-7-2.

Daly's Drive-In skated to a 6-3 win over Wild Bill's Fun Center. Mike Greer and John Ballarin each scored twice for Daly's. Ken Murray and Bob Johnson added single scores. Randy Temple, Greg Horvath, Mike Godvin, Tim McNamara, Paul Ihlenfeldt, Greer and Johnson had assists. Daly's improves its record to 8-7-3. Jeff Wozniak, Wayne Wozniak, Dan Robert and Jim McDonald earned assists. Wild Bill's falls to 5-11-2.

Wayne Heating & Cooling defeated Paddy's Pub by a 8-4 margin. Wayne Heating retains first place in the Bonkowski Division with a 12-4-2 record. Paddy's falls to 5-11-2.

With M-CARE, the sky is not the limit.

There's a serious accident. Time is crucial. A helicopter is dispatched to speed the victim to the University of Michigan Burn Center... a service you, hopefully, will never have to call on. But it's there if you need it, and much, much more through M-CARE.

M-CARE is the only HMO that links all the resources of the U of M Medical Center to the personal care of your family doctor and your nearby hospital. M-CARE covers you for office visits, checkups, hospitalization—even emergency helicopter transport.

Of course, with the M-CARE network of hospitals in cities like Royal Oak, Dearborn and Rochester, you don't always have to go to the U of M Medical Center. But isn't it good to know it's there whenever you need it? To find out more, ask your employer. Or call M-CARE at 747-8700.

ANNIVERSARY

Davis

Gertrude and James Davis of the Wayne-Westland area celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary along with the traditional Thanksgiving Day celebration this year.

The couple was married Nov. 23, 1940 in Madisonville, Kentucky.

The couple moved to Wayne in 1943 and have lived here since. Jim is retired from the Unistrut Detroit Service Corp. of Wayne where he had worked 30 years.

Thirty members of the Davis family gathered in the parlour of St. Paul Lutheran Church Nov. 22 for a traditional Thanksgiving meal.

A three-tiered anniversary cake topped with a porcelain wedding bell was served to the couple first, and then guests.

A display of family history

Gertrude and James Davis on a bulletin board provided a focal point for recapturing shared family memories. They are the parents of James (Barbara) Davis and Dixie (Warner) Frazer.

NEW ARRIVALS

Laura Kaczorowski

Laura Alise Kaczorowski, first child of Westland residents Tim and Susan Kaczorowski, made her debut at 10:41 p.m. June 8, 1990 at St. Mary's Hospital in Livonia.

She weighed 6 pounds, 10 ounces and was 19 1/2 inches long.

Proud grandparents are George and Elvira Racicot of Arizona and Chet and Sylvia Wood of Westland. Great-grandparents are George and Marie Racicot of Quebec.

Coaches urged to call, more sports to come

The Associated Newspapers will provide complete coverage of Tuesday night athletic events in our Thursday publications thanks to later deadlines.

Previous coverage of Tuesday and weekend games has been restricted due to deadlines imposed by our printer.

Beginning Jan. 24, however, our sports pages will return with coverage of these events. Help from coaches will be necessary, however, to provide fair and accurate information to our readers.

Coaches are urged to phone the newsroom and ask for Tom Mooradian or Ted Coutilish immediately following their Tuesday night events. A direct line to the newsroom is 729-4004.

Your cooperation will be appreciated in this endeavor to provide better coverage of sporting events.

tures flew from the walls, the house vibrated and the wall-paper danced.

I am watching now for little red pig eyes peering at me or any other manifestation similar to that of the home featured in The Amityville Horror book and movie (based on a true story I've been reminded).

Our new best friend, the Roto-Rooter man, found some concrete type obstruction about 12-feet down the shower drain. It took all his tools and a lot of perseverance, not to mention the shaking and vibrating of the entire house to remove this obstacle. He did it, however, and now the drains and toilets work, albeit not quite as hard as we did cleaning up the aftermath.

I have to convince Joan Bolek at the Canton Chamber that I didn't just forget her, re-hang all my pictures and launder every towel we own. The mess from the "snake" has to be cleaned up and the drain pipe debris removed from the walls, tile, wallpaper, floor and ceiling in the bathroom. This I can handle.

The carpeting needs cleaning from the tracks marked in unknown icky brown goo as we traipsed up and down the steps swabbing and scrubbing after the snaking. This, too, is a manageable task.

I just can't face all the fly-corpses. You know what it's like when a pet dies and after all, I just lost all those worms.

1 teaspoon baking soda, dissolved in 1 tablespoon water
1 1/2 cups all-purpose flour
3 cups old-fashioned oatmeal (uncooked)
1 cup raisins

Preheat the oven to 350 degrees. Lightly grease two baking sheets or use non-stick pans. In a large bowl, cream together the shortening and vanilla. Stir the granulated sugar, brown sugar, salt and cinnamon together in a bowl, pressing any lumps out of the brown sugar with the back of a spoon. Add this gradually to the shortening and cream thoroughly. Add eggs, baking soda and flour in order and then add the oatmeal and raisins and mix by hand. Do not use electric mixer with oatmeal and raisins. Drop by rounded tablespoons onto the baking sheets, leaving 2 inches between cookies for spreading. Bake at 350 for 11 to 13 minutes or until lightly browned. Cool on wire racks.

Chocolate drop cookies

2 cups unbleached flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 cup cocoa powder
8 tablespoons unsalted butter
1 cup granulated sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1 large egg
1/4 cup buttermilk

Preheat the oven to 375 degrees. Stir or sift together the flour, salt, baking soda and cocoa. Cream the butter and sugar together in a large bowl and add the vanilla and egg. Mix well. Add the dry ingredients alternately with the buttermilk, mixing completely. Drop by rounded teaspoons onto lightly greased or nonstick baking sheets, leaving 2 inches between the drops. Bake at 375 degrees for 10 minutes or until just beginning to brown around the edges. Cool on wire racks.

Food

1 cup carrots, sliced diagonally
2 large potatoes, pared and cut into julienne strips
1 package (10 ounces) frozen chopped spinach, thawed grated Parmesan cheese

Day Before: Wash beans; drain. Cover beans with 6 cups cold water and refrigerate, covered, overnight.

Next Day: Turn beans and liquid into an 8-quart kettle;

add salt, 6 cups water, chicken broth, the marjoram, bay leaf and pepper. Bring to boil, reduce heat and simmer, covered, for about 1 hour. Meanwhile, in hot oil in medium skillet, saute onion, garlic and carrot, stirring until onion is golden, about 5 minutes. After bean mixture has cooked 1 hour, add onion mixture, potato and spinach. Cook, covered, until beans and vegetables are tender. Sprinkle with Parmesan and serve. Makes 3 quarts.

Chicken breasts veronique
1/4 teaspoon shredded orange peel

1/2 cup orange juice
1 tablespoon sliced green onion
1/2 teaspoon instant, chicken bouillon granules
2 medium chicken breasts, skinned and split salt pepper
paprika
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 tablespoon water
1/2 cup seedless green grapes, halved parsley
orange slices (for garnish)

In a microwave-safe, 12-by-7 1/2-by-2-inch dish, combine orange peel, orange juice, green onion and bouillon granules. Add chicken; sprinkle with salt, pepper and paprika. Cover with waxed paper, microwave on high, 10 minutes, rearranging chicken once. Remove chicken to warm platter; cover to keep warm. Measure pan juices. Add water, if necessary, to measure 3/4 cup liquid. Blend cornstarch with cold water, stir into pan juices.

Microwave on high, 2 minutes, or until thickened and bubbly, stirring after 1 minute. Add grapes, microwave on high, 30 seconds. Spoon some sauce over chicken, pass remainder. Garnish with parsley and orange slices.

Oatmeal cookies

1 cup shortening
1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract
3/4 cup granulated sugar
3/4 cup brown sugar
3/4 teaspoon salt
3/4 teaspoon ground cinnamon
2 large eggs

A PRAYER FOR SADDAM HUSSEIN AND GEORGE BUSH
Oh, God, you fill the Universe with light and love. In You we live and move and have Our being.

We pray for Saddam Hussein and George Bush. Enlighten their minds and fill their hearts with the power of Your creative love.

Guide their actions so that all civilians and soldiers in the Gulf area are protected from the suffering of war. Inspire their decision so that the crisis in the Middle East is resolved peacefully and all people of the world learn to walk in ways of justice, love and peace.

AMEN,
